

Australia Welcomes Peace Ambassador

- Reuben Silverbird

Australians prepare for a rare visit from Nedhni Apache/ Cherokee Elder and Peace Ambassador to the United Nations, J. Reuben Silverbird, taking place in November and December 2011 for his "Sowing the Seeds of Love" tour.

J. Reuben Silverbird is the son of a Nedhni Apache Wise Man and Cherokee Medicine Woman, who is internationally recognised as a leading teacher of spirituality.

He is also a Peace Ambassador and accomplished musician, singer and performer offering healing through his deep connection with Great Spirit.

His first appearance on stage came at age 6, a path where he has remained and distinguished himself ever since. He has appeared on Stage, Film and TV in the USA, Europe and Asia, with stars such as Diana Ross, Eartha Kit as well as solo one man shows, singing his own original compositions. He plays guitar, flute and other percussive instruments during his Native Spiritual Musical Concerts.

He travels to the Four Corners of Mother Earth, with The Universal Peace Federation. He is attached to the United Nations as an NGO, (Non-Governmental Organisation); he is only one of the countless women and men Ambassadors who speak on behalf of "Love and Peace throughout the world today."

He has been invited to speak and received plaudits from "The International Spiritualist Federation" and is regularly invited to perform ceremonial blessings at the Nobel Prize Institute in Oslo, Norway.

Mr. Silverbird is also an accomplished Orator, and has spoken at leading Universities such as: Columbia, Stanford, in Vienna, Austria and Geneva, Switzerland.

His subjects are intertwined with words of wisdom, and always a touch of humor that he learned from his father; by sitting in, as a child, and listening to him speak on delicate Religious issues with Bishops and other Catholic Clergy Officials, as well as Politics with leading Politicians of that era. As a result of this training, his mind is gifted with a wealth of material that helps him be at ease with any size audience or in the company of Dignitaries such as: Governor John B Connelly, President Arafat, The Dalai Lama, Bobby Kennedy and Governor Clinton, when he decided to campaign for the Presidency.

Countless other City Officials from major cities on his world travels have greeted him and applauded his dedication to his work of love for peace amongst all peoples.

Reuben is bringing his humble message, his music and the resonance of his prayers which originate from his Native American roots and shoot to the heart of our collective purpose in living peacefully as one people on this planet. He is certain that we can bring meaningful honour to what the four letters L O V E represent.

We "have to have more unity with each other", he says. "In my heart, we are all brothers and sisters" he comments, encouraging respect, love and peace.

Reuben says "My message is universal. It has no country, no state, and no city. It belongs to the world. Our peoples' religious beliefs were, and still are based on principles of love. 'You reap what you sow', has no nationality, no community. It exists in all cultures of the world: it is found in Africa, Japan, India, America and here in Australia as well."

Many of my fellow country men and women here are looking forward to connect with this leading teacher of spirituality, which I lovingly call my "Mini Dalai Lama".

A special welcome is planned in Northern NSW to officially open the "Sowing the Seeds of Love" tour, where Reuben will be greeted by school children, Aboriginal Elders and local community members.

Cairns based performer and music legend, David Hudson is organising a spectacular pre-concert welcome at Tjapukai Aboriginal Cultural Park, in Cairns at the end of November, with traditional Bang-gaa, welcome drink and the Tjapukai Dancers. "We need more people like Reuben visiting down under", David says.

Perth residents are already booking in for an intimate Native American weekend retreat. The Sunshine Coast Regional Council is embracing Reuben's visit by hosting a number of community events.
